

 BIOGRAPHIESSilvia A. Grutter Norman

Silvia A. Grutter Norman is Vice President and Latino Banking Manager for Wells Fargo in Utah. Under her direction, Wells Fargo was the first financial services company in the state to open a Latino-focused branch and to accept Utah's Driving Privilege Card as a valid form of identification for opening new accounts. She is a member of Latinas of Utah Network Association (LUNA) and serves as a committee member for the Utah Bankers Association. Silvia is also co-chair for Wells Fargo's Amigos Utah Group, and the current chair of the Utah Hispanic Chamber of Commerce.

Although she has had to overcome several physical difficulties—hearing impairment and blindness—her disabilities have not stopped her from her passion, which is working tirelessly for the Latino community. Silvia is the oldest of eight children. She has a 22-year-old daughter whom she is very proud of, and enjoys her life with her partner Fernando.

Who has had the most influence in your life?

“Growing up in Argentina, my biggest influence was my parents. They always taught us to work hard, be punctual, honest, educated and most importantly, to learn English. My dad always said that you can do anything that you set your mind to with these values.”
